

Western TOH Stampede – Ghost Towns

There are more ghost towns than active in the state, over 600 to be exact, all thanks to the massive amounts of settlements that were established during the wild west era and the mining boom of the 20th century. Now, with cowboys being left behind and mines being long emptied, White Pine County is home to only 6 remaining towns, with the only active city being Ely.

We've got Nevada's dry climate to thank for that one, which helped preserve these historic buildings all these years. Out in the Silver State's mighty seas of sagebrush, you're more than likely to dig deep in the pages of the past and get to know these legendary places that built up the state.
